Residents Concerned Over Hydrant Loss

By Lawrence Moore

SUTTON - Residents living near Whitinsville Water Company hydrants were present at the July 2 Selectmen's meeting to discuss a letter they received from Samuel R. Carpinetti, Manager of the Whitinsville Water Co. relative to the termination of hydrant service.

The letter read as follows:

"The Whitinsville Water Company is governed by the Department of Public Utilities regarding rules, rates and regulations. The Whitinsville Water Company has an approved hydrant rental fee approved by the Department of Public Utilities. The Town of Sutton has refused to pay this fee. Whitinsville Water Company is owed $20,005.04 by the Town of Sutton for hydrant rental fees. Does your town refuse to pay Massachusetts Electric, New England Telephone or Commonwealth Gas Co.

"Whitinsville Water Company has paid the Town of Sutton $40,763.92 in taxes this year. Unfortunately, we are forced to terminate the fire hydrant near your home. The fire hydrants will be bagged at the time of termination and shut off at the water main. This will happen on July 1, 1991 at 8 AM unless the town pays their bill. If you have any questions, please call Whitinsville Water Company or the Sutton Board of Selectmen."

Selectmen Chair Dave Strieby asked Fire Chief John Peterson to review the situation and advise the residents in attendance of his plans.

Peterson said that over 90% of the town does not have hydrants. For that reason, Sutton fire equipment consists primarily of tankers capable of quick response and control of fires. Northbridge, which has hydrants, does not have tankers. As members of Mutual Aid groups, neighboring towns assist each other as called upon. Northbridge has reduced its fire staff to six. Sutton has almost 60 "on call" volunteers. While agreeing that hydrants are desirable, he reminded the group that a hydrant was useful only when firefighters arrive on the scene. He said he could get a hose in action quicker from a tanker that from a hydrant.

In preparation for the meeting, on receipt of the notice from WWC, Peterson said he toured the area shut off, and found his response time would be, at most, 10 minutes, with between 20 and 30 men depending on the time of day. While the absence of a hydrant might result in a small increase in fire insurance costs, he assured the people they were in no danger, and in fact would get equal protection with the rest of Sutton.

Sutton tankers have a capacity of 10,500 gallons of water, with the average house fire requiring only 1500 gallons, according to Peterson.

Several residents of Carr Street asked questions and expressed concerns.

As for Mutual Aid, Peterson said the call for aid would depend on the type and size of the fire, and could be activated at the time of the alarm so that equipment could arrive at about the same time.

The Paul Revere Saga: Chapter 12

(We're getting there, we're getting there!)

(This is the 12th in a series of articles dealing with the problems that have plagued the Paul Revere Condominiums off Grafton Street since the project first came before the Millbury Planning Board in 1983.)

By Andree A. Belisle

MILLBURY - On OCTOBER 24, 1985, the MILLBURY BOARD OF HEALTH received correspondence from Thomas C. McMahon, Director of the Division of Water Pollution Control of the Massachusetts Department of Environmental Quality Engineering (DEQE). Board of Health members at that time were: Frank Piscitelli, Chairman; Walter Weldon, and William Caron.

The DEQE called the board's attention to the following:

"The rapid increase in condominium developments currently taking place statewide has resulted in some confusion among developers and regulatory agencies regarding the circumstances under which the DEQE may assume sewage disposal jurisdiction. This is particularly true when "phased" construction is proposed. The Massachusetts Condominium Law (M.G.L. 183A) requires that the ownership of the entire development be brought under the control of a single entity (i,.e. Condominium Association) by means of a 'Master Deed'.

"Therefore, if the total wastewater flow to be generated from the total number of 'phases' proposed exceeds 15,000 gallons per day (gpd), the proposal should be forwarded to the DEQE for review and will become subject to the provisions for minimum acceptable wastewater treatment in accordance with 314 CMR 5.00.

On OCTOBER 25, 1985, Town Planner Alan Gordon notified Piscitelli that the Planning Board voted to release Unit 3 on Village Green. Members of the Planning Board at that time were: Phil Dumas, Chairman; Anna Lewandowski, Paul Aubrey, Eric White, and Gary Swenson. Quotations that follow from the Planning Board meetings were taken from minutes recorded by then secretary Mary Clark.

At the OCTOBER 28, 1985, PLANNING BOARD MEETING, Gordon said Forrow Builders had made a lot of progress in the last two weeks. "Mr. Gordon stated that he has put in 150 shrubs. He has put in three rows of trees on Concord Rd. He has put in the base road on Concord Rd. and has bermed the road. Mr. Gordon stated that the entrance should have been done on a 25 ft. radius.

"Also, Mr. Gordon stated that the catch basins were not put in properly, but that the developer stated that he followed the plan. Mr. Gordon stated that the engineer that was hired by the Board recommended asphalt swales instead of tearing out the road.

"Mr. E. White questioned why they could not put the curb up to the catch basin.

"Mr. Gordon stated that he told Forrow Builders that he would discuss this with the Board, but that he felt that the Board wanted everything done right. Mr. Gordon stated that he (Forrest) would have to "rip up" four catch basins. Mr. Gordon stated that he has completed all the work on Meeting House Rd. and Village Green.

"Mr. Forrest has requested a release of units 1-14.

"Mr. P. Dumas stated that he does not like the idea of four catch basins being out in the road. Mr. Gordon stated that the Board should view the site Saturday, November 2, at 9 a.m."

The board voted to release the units requested.

At the NOVEMBER 13, 1985 PLANNING BOARD meeting, Phil Rawinski was present, representing Forrow Builders, to discuss two catch basins on Village Green and Meetinghouse Road.

Gordon said the catch basins were not installed correctly. He said the town's engineer did not provide a written report but had verbally recommended that some compromise be made. He suggested that either the developer could move the catch basins or pitch the road. Gordon said the town's engineer felt that the catch basins could work "if they were done right."

Gordon also said that the catch basins were not put in according to the plan and that the catch basins should be closer to the berm.

White said the water was missing the catch basin and running across the road when he viewed the site.

Gordon presented the plan which showed that the catch basins should be up against the berm.

Rawinski said that the engineer that the Planing Board hired went down to the project and said that the turn had to be a 25 ft. radius turn. "The engineer then put the lines in and made the road bigger. Thus, the catch basins are not close to the berm. Mr. Rawinski stated that he feels the engineer caused the problem."

Aubrey said the first catch basin was no problem. He asked if they could put another catch basin next to the one that is already there so that they would not have to tear up the street.

"Mr. Gordon stated that our engineer will compromise but insists that a 25 ft. radius turn be put in. Mr. Gordon stated that the plan calls for a 25 ft. radius turn.

"Mr. Rawinski stated that Lavallee Surveyors stated that the berm was not installed according to the plan.

"Mr. P. Dumas would like to see the plan with the width of the road, etc.

"Mr. P. Aubrey stated that they either have to move the berm or rip up the swales or put in another swale.

"Mr. Rawinski stated that the berm should not have been installed before the road was inspected and he feels that the engineer caused the problem. Mr. Rawinski further stated that they could put another catch basin at the end of Meetinghouse Road."

Dumas said he wanted Robinson-Fox (the town's consultant) to inspect the property.

Gordon said Perkins Engineering (Forrest's engineer) was the original engineer when the plan was presented and that he should do all the additional inspections.

Rawinski said Perkins was too busy to do the inspection so they contacted Lavallee Surveyors.

Aubrey then questioned the status of the granite curbing and was told by Dumas that it had been re-poured.

White said he would like to have Perkins Engineering Co. interpret the plan.

Rawinski said he felt it was the Planning Board's engineer that made the error.

Aubrey said the Planning Board is trying to work with Forrow Builders.

"Mr. Rawinski stated that Forrow Builders is 'bending over backwards' to please the Planning Board."

We The People...

Campaign Starting Early?

To the Editor:

Recently, I voted against an amendment to repeal pay raises already negotiated and given to about forty union carpenters, painters and electricians of the Massachusetts Convention Center Authority. Two sixty-thousand dollar senior management positions had been eliminated to provide the funds for the raise.

My former opponent, Alan Tuttle, wrote that he was shocked at how I voted. Well, he would know I will always try to respect contract agreements and certainly not interfere with the results of those negotiations after the fact. Fortunately, the House agreed and voted 97 to 58 to protect the employees rights. Would my opponent repeal raises of full-time employees already under contract?

Mr. Tuttle should look instead to his own situation in Millbury where as an elected official, his Board requested, and he supported, a pay increase of 6%. With local aid being cut, public safety officers and teachers losing their jobs, state employees taking furloughs and having no raises for three years and registry offices being closed, how can an elected official ask for a 6% raise for himself?

Mr. Tuttle is starting his campaign antics early. He doesn't tell you that on the same issue, I went against the leadership and voted to privatize the Hynes Convention center. I have been opposing President Bulger and the whole Convention Authority scheme from its inception in 1982. But, on negotiated wages for working union employees, I do not favor altering existing contracts.

Takes Issue With Letter

To the Editor:

As a member of the Windle Field Advisory Committee I take exception to the article [Letter to the Editor] written by Mr. Bourdeau on June 27 about Windle Field and I consider it nothing more than a cheap shot against the Millbury School Committee.

Mr. Bourdeau is correct, the parcel of land in front of the tennis courts is not part of the lease held by the town. However, the school department is maintaining the property (i.e., mowing the lawn, trimming along the fences). Because of this, the Advisory Committee recommended that we spend some money on the property to make it easier to maintain and to give the land a general "clean up", since it has long been an "eyesore". Most of the money spent on the property up to this point has been through the generous donations of the Millbury Lions Club and Little League Bingo. Yes, the Highway Department and School Department employees have put some time working on the property. But is it so wrong for people to pool their resources for a common goal? The School Committee and Business Manager have been totally supportive of the Volunteer Advisory Committee recommendations for Windle Field. We, on the committee, are trying to make the field a well maintained site to host the many activities that take place there. Now, because of Mr. Bourdeau's complaints, all work must stop unless we receive more volunteer help to finish the job. Personally, this whole ordeal makes me wonder why I should even bother to volunteer to do any kind of help.

The answer to this is to incorporate the parcel of land we are speaking about into the lease agreement, which the School Committee has begun talking about doing. In the meantime I personally, as a voter-tax payer, feel the Windle family has extended themselves enough to the town over the years that what small cost it is for us to refurbish that lot is worth it.

Another Point of View

Who's Sorry Now?

By Lawrence Moore

Do you find yourself wondering if we might be better off if Question 3 had passed? One thing is certain. We could not be worse off!

In spite of a few more Republicans in the State House, and in spite of a Republican Governor, power still remains with the "leadership" in the General Court. True, they've gotten smarter, slyer and more subtle. One lesson from the last election they took to heart: the brutal posturing of the past scares people, so let's be a little more circumspect, let's tone down the public pronouncements, and let's make it look like we learned a lesson. .....but..... let's not forget who's running the show.

Governor Weld is a big disappointment. First "No" on the Hynes subsidy, then "Maybe", because they outsmarted him and got the money from hotel taxes. He said, "It will be a cold day in July before I agree to that." Weather forecast: there will be a cold day in July! The purposes to which those hotel taxes were to be allotted will go without, but Bulger's buddy will be protected. The Governor is too ready to deal. He will go along with Turnpike improvements if "I get a shiny new train," which may or may not stop in Worcester.

It is disappointing that the Governor does not address the roots of the problem. Efforts at Restructuring and Reorganizing have been few, and some have failed. We've laid off a few workers, but nothing to compare with industries' drive for efficiency and economy. Wang plans to cut its staff by another 3,000 to 4,000 workers, or 20%. Shell Oil is cutting as many as 4,650 workers, or 15%. Apple Computer is cutting 10% or 1,560 employees. Monsanto is shedding 2,500 or 7% of its work force.

The City Clerk's office in Worcester has laid off four workers, and a sign asks for "patience" from clients in case of delay. There are four empty desks and four unused phones, but the formerly "relaxed" office is now hustling to get the job done. The "delays" are not apparent.

WE NEEDED PROPOSITION 3!

State Governments are suffering from a boom in bureaucracy that, especially in Massachusetts, provided more

From My Window on Farnsworth Court

By "Pastor Rae" Cameron

After much research, consolation, and prayer, I have decided that surgery is the best cure for my prostate cancer. I went into the Dana-Farber Institute for a second opinion, and I cannot say enough in praise for their wonderful spirit and care. That is not to take away in the least from my own local physician and urologist, who have been equally wonderful through this whole process.

I will go into the Mass. Medical Center (Memorial Hospital) on July 29th and be operated on on the 30th. Your continued support in prayer is very much appreciated, believe me. It will be quite a serious procedure and if the cancer has not spread, the prostate will be removed; but if it has spread, then we will have to resort to either radiation or medication. They tell me I must prepare for the worst, but of course we hope and pray for the best. I am in God's wonderful love and care for me.

This whole experience has made me aware, as I recently preached, that we have to be ready. Life itself can be complicated enough, but sickness and death are even more complicated. Fortunately, my church has a marvelous insurance program, but they desire a second opinion and thru a Patient Advocacy Program every procedure will have to have their approval. Then there is the whole matter of medical practices to prolong life and the need for both a living will and someone who has the durable power of attorney over both your financial affairs and to determine what medical procedures will be allowed.

My will was made out up in Maine, and I have been working on one down here in Massachusetts. Now I am seriously looking into a living trust to handle my affairs.

Most important, however, is a personal relationship with my God who rules over all these affairs. And equal to that, is a good relationship with all my family, friends, and my fellowman. Amen....

money than anyone could spend. In the last 20 years State employment has increased five times faster than Federal employment. There are now four million State workers compared with three million Federal. And while the growth has slowed, experience indicates that, unless heroic measures are undertaken, the payroll will increase as soon as the economy recovers.

During the "Massachusetts Miracle" boom of the 70's & 80's, State employment increased 2.5% each year while boom employment increased only 1.7% a year, according to the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston.

Do we need all these State workers and the administrators who supervise them? The Employment and Training Choices Program, a public-private partnership, required 60 program managers as supervisors. The job is being done today with 12 managers.

The "balanced budget" just sent to the Governor is a sham and a shame. Over 500 sections were "bundled" by the leadership and, after a few days of Joint Committee work, were passed by our Legislators in a few hours. They had neither the time nor the opportunity to learn or to understand for what they were voting. We are in for a shock when we learn what the budget has done to each of us.

Now that the budget is behind us, it is time for Dick Moore, his Massachusetts Democratic Leadership Council, and the Republicans to prepare a massive restructuring program IN TOTAL, and sell it to the voters between now and November 1992. It may personally and politically be a risky undertaking. If it is successful, the words "public service" will have taken on a new meaning. And those displaced state workers who have marketable talent will be absorbed by economic growth in a healthy, inviting, and reasonably taxed Massachusetts.

Proposition 2 1/2 limits the ability of towns and cities to raise money. Overrides generally have failed. People don't want more taxes. So towns and cities will be forced to cut direct services while the boom-built State labor force continues to be inefficient and expensive.

The opponents of Question 3 have been exposed as proponents of bloated status quo paid for by new taxes.

The State job-holders and their families and friends didn't win by defeating Question 3.

The silent majority who pays their salaries lost by not voting for Question 3.

Local Man to Participate in PMC Bike Event

BOSTON - The Jimmy Fund's largest single event, the Pan-Mass Challenge bicycling event (PMC) will take place the weekend of August 10 and 11. Participating in the 192-mile bicycle ride from Sturbridge to Provincetown will be Albert Kupcinskas of 138 Millbury Avenue, Millbury.

Last year, nearly one thousand riders shattered all previous fundraising records by raising $1.3 million. "The opportunity to expand and raise even more money for cancer research and treatment is one of the most exciting developments in PMC history," said Billy Starr, founder and organizer of the PMC.

PMC cyclists and volunteers never lose sight of the reason for the event - to raise money for Dana Farber Cancer Institute's Jimmy Fund. Most riders share a personal reason for wanting to support this cancer charity; many are recovered cancer patients or friends and relatives of cancer patients. During PMC weekend alone, there are more than 500 volunteers donating time and services, such as massage therapy, medical help, and transportation, helping to ensure the success of the weekend, as well as keeping administrative and overhead costs to a minimum. The PMC has consistently donated 90% of the money raised to the Jimmy Fund.

Anyone interested in the PMC can contact Starr at 617-965-9624.

White remarked that either the curbing or the catch basins were improperly installed.

Gordon was scheduled to meet with Robinson-Fox and Perkins Engineering to try to resolve the problem.

On JANUARY 6, 1986, Fire Chief Tom Nault wrote to Gordon concerning a January 4 inspection he conducted.

"The results of that inspection caused several concerns which would complicate an emergency, should one arise, at this time," Nault wrote. The concerns were as follows:

"1. The container which will hold the supplemental water supply for fire protection purposes is dry. This water supply is essential for the protection of the property and occupants of this project. This item is long overdue. Although it was not specified in the initial agreement as to when this shall be completed and in use for the fire department, common sense would indicate that this special agreement, being necessary to protect life and property, should have been completed before the first unit was occupied. We appeal to the board that this item must be completed immediately.

"2. The fire hydrant connected to the supplemental water supply should be a color other than red, which is the color of the fire hydrants located on the existing water main. We suggest the color yellow for the visible portion of the fire hydrant barrel.

"3. There are no street signs erected making location of specific apartment units almost impossible.

"4. Buildings are not adequately numbered, further complicating the location of specific locations. Both items mentioned in numbers 3. & 4. are a concern for all emergency services: Police, Fire, ambulance.

Street signs and high visibility numbers on apartment buildings should be in place immediately."

At the APRIL 28, 1986 PLANNING BOARD MEETING, Forrest was present to request the release of 12 units for occupancy.

White read a letter from Fire Chief Nault stating that most of the street signs were erected and the water tank was patched and no longer leaking. He said the only problem were the numbers on the houses.

The board voted to release six units with the remainder to be released following an inspection by Gordon.

On JUNE 28, 1986, Nault informed Gordon by letter that the Board of Fire Engineers would like some changes made on the hydrants at the complex. "The last hydrants on Lexington and Bunker Hill should be raised so that the bottom of the steamer connection is a minimum of 2 1/2 feet from the finish grade."

At the JULY 14, 1986, BOARD OF HEALTH meeting, the minutes state that the Planning Board informed the Board of Health that they are holding up the release of final occupancy permits for the project until all plumbing permits have been obtained and all final inspections made.

On JULY 15, 1986, Walter Weldon notified Gordon that all plumbing permits for Paul Revere Village were issued.

On JULY 21, 1986 Gordon wrote that the planning board voted to release units 1-10 on Concord Road.

The BUILDING INSPECTOR's file contains a letter from a Mrs. Anna McAuley who lived on Meetinghouse Lane when the letter was written, to the Building Code Commission, Department of Public Safety in Boston. The letter, which was undated, read as follows:

"I am writing to request your advice and assistance with a serious problem in my town house complex.

"Last October 4, 1985 I bought a townhouse at the Paul Revere Village in Millbury, MA. I and my next door neighbor have been plagued with water entering our finished basement room.

"My attorney wrote Forrow Builders about this matter. They did a mickey mouse fix up job and claimed they solved the problem. They tried to fix the problem from within.

"I am not an engineer," McAuley wrote, "but I do know that a foundation needs proper drainage. I believe this builder should hire experienced skilled people whose specialty is in connecting water from entering the basement and thus satisfy his buyers.

"We have had frost, a snow storm and a thaw and that is probably the reason for the water - but proper construction would have prevented the problem. I have lost two rugs so far.

"Please advise me what to do. The builder is Forrow Construction Co., Grafton Street, Millbury, MA 01527.

"'Addendum,' this complex has not been turned over to the Association, thus he is still responsible."

The next correspondence in the Building Inspector's file on the Paul Revere Condominiums is dated March 13, 1990.

On OCTOBER 2, 1986, Dumas, Chairman of the PLANNING BOARD, wrote the following letter to the Board of Health:

"On Monday, September 29, 1986, the Planning Board was contacted by a resident of Paul Revere Village, regarding a septage problem behind Units 11 to 14 on Lexington Road. Upon visiting the site on Tuesday, September 30, I witnessed seepage from the units' leach trench onto the yard surface.

"As such, I request that the Board of Health investigate the problem. It is important to note that the Planning Board Special Permit issued to Forrow Builders for the project requires that septic systems at the site be pumped on an annual basis. To the Planning Board's knowledge, the system serving Units 11 to 14 on Lexington Road has not been pumped since its installation approximately two years ago."

(According to condition #13 imposed by the Planning Board in granting the special permit, "The condominium association, and/or any other party assigned or delegated the responsibility of the maintenance of the common property area, shall have all townhouse septic systems inspected annually and pumped out and cleaned periodically, written verification of which must be sent each year to the Millbury Board of Health." No where in the conditions does it state that the systems must be pumped out and cleaned annually.)

On OCTOBER 8, 1986, the BOARD OF HEALTH wrote to William Forrest, President of Forrow Builders, Inc., as follows,

"We have received a report from the Planning Board that they observed septage running over onto the ground at Paul Revere Village, Units 11 to 14, Lexington Road.

"As you know, the Special Permit issued you for this project required that the septic systems be pumped out annually. Our records show that, as of this date, no pumpings for this project have taken place. We, therefore, are ordering you to have all of those units that have been occupied for more than one year to be pumped out immediately."

From OCTOBER 1, 1986 to October 28, 1986, records in the Board of Health office show that a total of 21,500 gallons of septage was pumped from Lexington Road-Meeting House Road.

On APRIL 8, 1987, Chris Nelson wrote to Tom Nault:

"On May 30, 1987 a performance guarantee posted by Forrow Builders in order to guarantee the standards of the on-site 60,000

Competition for funding, whether it's from membership dues, rummage sales or grants, is greater than ever. The importance of your organization maintaining a high profile in the community during these times of fiscal instability is a point that has been driven home again and again at meetings, workshops and in conversations. A high profile attests to an organization's well-planned and coordinated public relations program.

Like many non-profits, including the Millbury Public Library, there are limits on time, money and staffing. The ability to stretch all three to include a public relations program can be overwhelming, so the purpose of this article is to outline a public relations plan of action that is sensitive to these constraints. Visit the Millbury Public Library for books and magazine articles that can guide you on the finer points of good PR.

Good PR is synonymous with a favorable image and high visibility. It is wise to lay the framework of good public relations with a public relations campaign.

At it best, PR campaign involves input from a cross section of members in your group and concerned individuals in the community. The campaign is a process that defines goals, identifies and targets its audience, and maps out strategies to promote the organization. It is a plan of action that serves as a guide for all current and future public relations efforts. It must be designed to be evaluated and re-evaluated to meet the ever changing needs and demands of the organization and the people it serves.

Be prepared to produce a written plan for public relations that can be used for future reference by you and others in your organization. The first step in this process is to form a committee of staff and community members. Look for people who are upbeat, knowledgeable about the community, interested in your services, and who are risk takers. Everyone should be educated as to the overall purpose of the organization and its plan of service.

The first task of the group is to define the purpose of the PR campaign. Is it to promote an awareness in the community, garner support for a building project, or shore up support in the wake of the next impending fiscal crisis? The answer to these questions takes the form of the mission statement which will guide the rest of the process.

Almost in tandem with formulating the purpose of your campaign is identifying the audience you wish to reach. It's important at this point to warn against some possible pitfalls that may steer the group off track. Guard against getting into the nitty-gritty how-to's. Save that for later strategy sessions. Also, don't attempt to analyze the value of viability of specific services. That's the task of the executive board. Assume that this has already been determined in the organization's long range plan. Right now you want to focus in on who you want to hear your message.

Unless recent surveys are available, you might consider taking a survey to determine who your current and potential audiences are. Take time to amass and interpret available statistical data that bears out patterns of usage. Use all this information to be explicit in describing your audience.

You've taken the time and energy to state your purpose and define your audience. The next step is to decide how to deliver your message. You can deliver the message in a variety of ways. For our purposes here, let's focus in on the promotional materials and special events programming.

Look at your promotional materials and letterhead, business cards, etc. Think about new materials that you can create. Ask what message these materials are conveying and what you want them to say now? Use an artist's eye and an advertiser's savvy to scrutinize the design, layout and text. Do they do justice to the message? Does the quality of print and paper together lend credibility? Do you need a new logo? Consider a slogan with which people can identify your organization? Is your letterhead dated? Do you have signs in the community? Are they large enough and eye-catching?

Next, you need to think about how your message will be distributed. A list of the newspapers, radio and television stations, schools, special interest groups and other outlets covering your area comes in handy. Include contact people and publication deadlines on the list. Newspapers and non-print media are deluged each day with press releases and public service announcements. It helps to get to know editors and programming directors, so you'll stand a better chance of getting your announcements published or announced. Finally, think about where you can leave brochures, hang posters or hand out fliers.

Special events programming is a way of keeping your name out in front of the community. Even if your program is a flop, just think of all the times people read your name in the papers, heard it on the radio, saw it on television or hanging on a poster. You have created the illusion of an organization doing things, on the move, and reaching out to people. After all, since they didn't go to the program, they don't know that no one else did!

Of course, ultimately, you want to plan programs that go over well. To do so, plan events and activities that relate to the audience you're trying to attract. Make sure that programs fit in with the organization's overall goals, the goals of the public relations campaign, and the image you're conveying. Be interesting, creative and up-to-date. Mix in the tried and true with new concepts and approaches.

Don't be vague here. When you plan a program, answer the who, what, where, and when questions. You also want to be realistic about what you're planning. Your group will either have to coordinate and carry out the programs or solicit the assistance of someone else. Since special events and programs have to be planned well in advance, you want to make sure that at a later date people follow through as envisioned. Depending on the size of your calendar, consider planning out a block of programs rather than doing it piecemeal. This will insure some continuity and commitment to the campaign. Needless to say, plan according to your available resources, including time, money and staffing. Realize that you'll have to invest both time and money to realize the payoffs of good public relations.

Evaluating your PR campaign is the last step that you want to take. Before executing your plan of action, consider how you will measure its success. Statistics can be kept and surveys designed for this purpose. Analyze the data to make adjustments as the campaign progresses. At regularly scheduled intervals, regroup as a committee and study the results of your overall campaign, honing and refining your plan of action, as necessary.

In answer to a question from Jim Vanderbaan, the Chief said first on the scene would be a 1,000 gallon engine, followed as needed by as many as four tankers with capacities of 1,500 or 2,000 gallons each. While admitting he'd prefer a hydrant, the Chief reiterated his confidence in his equipment and his men.

Marjorie Hamnett asked whether Northbridge could respond faster. The Chief said Northbridge would respond only if called by Sutton, and with no hydrant available, Sutton was the best choice.

Carol Clark asked why the problem had arisen.

Strieby, Selectman Wally Johnson and Town Administrator Dexter Blois explained that Town Meeting had not voted any money for hydrant rental. Selectman Rick LaBonte explained his conflict of interest living in a Water District, abstained from discussion, and stepped down.

Blois continued by explaining that the $5500 hydrant rental fee had not been included in the budget, had not been questioned by the Finance and Warrant Advisory Committee, and had not been questioned at the Town Meeting. Since the 1950's Sutton has been paying $75 per hydrant, which has been accepted by the WWC up to this year, when they billed Sutton at a charge of $511.87 each.

"Two things happened this year," Blois said. "There was no budget allocated and WWC said we have to charge Sutton the going rate. Fortunately the town had the foresight to purchase fire equipment without the need for water supplies. The Fire Department is prepared to fight a fire with no water supply being available. Sutton has large diameter hose to deliver more water faster over a long distance. Mutual Aid agreements add specialized equipment."

Hamnett felt she was paying higher taxes than other parts of town.

Several members explained it was not due to the hydrants but to her waterfront property.

"I feel that hydrants do benefit people other than the users," Board member Mary K. Connor said. "I feel that the town should work toward a resolution of this problem." She reminded her colleagues that in 1989 the Board asked Blois to inquire how the DPU sets its rate and recommended that the inquiry be started again. "I'm not happy with this," she said, "the Chief has said he's not happy, and I don't think the Board is happy with it . We have to get to the DPU and find a way to get the hydrants turned back on."

Johnson recalled that years ago discussion with the WWC resulted in Sutton making an offer and saying, "take it or pull out." That has continued until this year. "It takes something like this to get the ball rolling toward a solution," Johnson said. He agreed that the Town should try to resolve the problem, but repeated, "I'm happy the town has the kind of fire equipment it has so everybody in town can be treated fair and equally. We are not slighting anybody. Hydrants are fine, but they are an extra."

At this point, the Chief told of a fire on Watson's Farm Road in Northbridge to which the Sutton tankers were asked to respond because Northbridge had no suitable equipment. "That's how Mutual Aid works", he said.

A resident asked how Northbridge was able to pay $252,000 for hydrants while we could not.

Blois said Northbridge laid off teachers, firemen and others while Sutton did not.

LaBonte, from the floor, saying it was Town Meeting not the Selectmen who decided the Town Budget, asked Blois to explain how the protesters could make themselves heard.

Blois explained the citizens petition process, requiring 10 registered voters signatures at a regular town meeting and 100 at a special, and offered help if the group wanted to petition the town meeting.

"I think we need hydrants and I think they're good for the whole town," Connor said, "but I don't want to pay more than what we should pay for them. We have to get to the DPU, find out why they set those rates, and we should do that in the next week. But if you folks do go to a town meeting, remember you're going to be there with a whole lot of people who don't want their teachers cut, they don't want this, they don't want that. So we all have to work together or you wont get what you want. We will check with the DPU and see what we can do."

Felice Naughton agreed it would be well to talk to the DPU, but felt in addition the town should talk with WWC about a compromise. "Perhaps they'd be satisfied with something rather than nothing," she said. "If we tell them we only have so much money, perhaps we can work out something."

Strieby concluded by thanking the people for their input, promising to investigate a possible solution and offering support for a petition at town meeting.

Correspondence

- Strieby reviewed a bulletin from the Massachusetts Municipal Association, estimating the shortfall in Local Aid that would result if the budget now on the Governor's desk is signed.

Blois was reluctant to try to define the dollar effect but did say that a estimated shortfall of $200,000 looked likely and probably would necessitate further cuts. Concerning the effect relative to overlay exemptions from 2 1/2 and to the handling of the teachers deferral, Blois chose not to predict.

Connor and Blois agreed that deferring teachers' summer pay "would eventually come back to haunt us" because at some time in the future two summers of teachers' pay would have to be budgeted in one year.

- Strieby reported on an article in the Wall Street Journal which said that as a result of the action of Massachusetts Legislators, the IRS has altered its decision regarding the State and County pension systems.

"At this point," Blois said, "we are out from underneath the gun on FICA. A couple of things have to happen. There has to be an amendment to Ch.32 to allow overtime and other pays to be included in the retirement contribution, and the County has to amend to require all part-time employees to be covered. Part-timers not in the County system could be covered under PEBSCO, an alternate approved plan."

- Blois reported that representatives from United Video Cablevision would attend the August 6 meeting to update the Board on regulations, service and improvements.

Precinct Redistricting

Working with Town Clerk Ethel O'Day, Blois is preparing for precinct redistricting in Sutton. This needs to be done prior to the next election. Using computer software and maps from the Federal census, Blois expects the job to be done expeditiously. Although there will be some shifts, there will still be three precincts.

Camp Marion

Advice from the town's insurance carrier indicates that the town should not encourage the use of Sutton Community Park (Camp Marion) after supervised hours. While it was agreed that after hours use would likely occur, the Board asked Blois to determine appropriate wording for "warning" signs. After discussion it was agreed that the gate would be gallon water storage tank in Paul Revere Village is due to expire.

"The Planing Board would like to request an inspection of said water storage facility by the Millbury Fire Department, or its agent(s) for the purpose of determining the condition, and future capability of the water storage tank to perform its stated purpose."

On APRIL 10, 1987, the SEWER COMMISSIONERS received a letter from Attorney Joseph Cove, town counsel, noting that the Forrow Builders property slated for a pumping station comes out of a condominium trust.

"The property Forrow Builders is conveying to the Town is subject to condominium restrictions," Cove wrote. "In order for the Town to take good and acceptable title to the property, it will need a release of the property from the condominium provisions.

"Would you determine who the Trustees and Officers of the condominium are and ask if they would release that property from the terms and conditions of the condominium trust."

On APRII 13, 1987, the SEWER COMMISSIONERS wrote to Forrest as requested by Attorney Cove.

On APRIL 24, 1987, FIRE CHIEF Tom Nault reported on his inspection of the water storage facility and the dry fire hydrant. The results of that inspection were as follows:

1. Water level in storage tank is approx. 18" (inches) or approx. 21,879 gals. (approx. 33% full)
2. The dry fire hydrant is broken and inoperative.

Nault said his department was recommending the following:

"1. The association or property owners be responsible for maintaining the water level at 100% capacity at all times. The water level should be checked weekly. Any problem with keeping the water level at 100% must be reported to the fire department immediately so that they are aware of the situation.

"2. The fire hydrant connected to this storage facility be replaced with the same diameter pipe that comes out of the storage facility. The end of this pipe shall have the same type threads (NST) and same size opening as a steamer connection on a regular fire hydrant. This connection shall be pointed so that an approaching apparatus coming up Bunker Hill Rd. from Grafton St. will be able to nose up to the pipe connection.

"3. The owner or association should examine the possibility of placing plastic covers in the roof of the storage facility. Hopefully, these covers would let the sunlight in and help to keep the ice level down in the winter time.

"4. Gravel should be placed from the roadway to the back doorway of the water storage facility so that in the event of pipe failure, a firm support will be in place so that fire apparatus can draft from the doorway.

"5. The dry hydrant connection shall be painted reflective yellow.

"6. All wet fire hydrants connected to the public water supply shall be painted red on the barrel and reflective white on the bonnet and caps.

"7. All hydrants are to be maintained at least twice (Spring and Fall) a year. All hydrants shall be kept properly painted so as to be highly visible at all times.

"We have been using the formula of Capacity - Vx7.48 in determining the water level of the storage building," Nault wrote. "We are assuming that this facility is barely within projected needs when 100% full. (30X 65X 4 = QX 7.48 - 58,344.00 gal. when full.) However, a drain pipe located at the top of the concrete foundation, in the rear, only allows the water level to come up to within 4" of the top. Therefore, our projection for capacity changes to: 30x 65x 3.66 = Q X 7.48 = 53,384.76 gals. As you can see this 4" is critical, resulting in a loss of approx. 5,000 gal of water. This is another reason why this storage facility must be maintained at full capacity.

"Future storage facility will be required to be a minimum of 30 x 65 x 6 feet. with these dimensions, water level to 5 feet will result in approx. 67,320 gals."

On APRIL 29, 1987, the PLANNING BOARD notified Forrest that on May 30, 1987, "Forrow Builders, Inc. will be released from all responsibilities concerning the Paul Revere Village Condominium complex as outlined in an attached letter from the Millbury Savings Bank dated July 14, 1986."

Attached to the letter was the result of the Fire Department's inspection of the water storage facility.

"Please be notified that the Planning Board is requesting that the following actions be taken to ensure the correction of the current status of the facility, as well as to ensure the continued availability of this water source.

"1. That the water storage facility be brought to a 100% capacity level immediately. The Fire Department will be requested to perform an inspection of the facility on May 15, 1987 to determine whether the facility is operating at a satisfactory level. If the Fire Department inspection reveals that the facility is operating at an un-acceptable level, corrective measures will be pursued by the Planning Board.

"2. The dry hydrant connected to the facility must be repaired as outlined in the second recommendation of the Fire Chief's letter. Said repairs are to be completed by May 15, 1987 in order to allow for inspection and possible repairs of this item.

"3. Recommendation #4 of the Fire Chief's letter is to be completed by May 15, 1987. Said gravel base should be 15 inches in depth, 10 feet in width, and should extend the full area beyond the rear door to the facility.

"4. The Planning Board must be notified and provided with the names and addresses of responsible parties within the Paul Revere Association. As Forrow Builders will no longer be responsible or associated with the Paul Revere Condominium complex these responsible parties must establish contact with various Town boards and agencies. The Paul Revere Association must submit, to the Planning Board, a maintenance schedule relating to the continued monitoring of the water storage facility, as well as regular maintenance of the hydrants located throughout the complex. The Planning Board is requesting immediate contact with the Association to establish these maintenance schedules as soon as possible.

"In addition, the Town Planner will be conducting a final inspection of all landscaping at the complex to determine whether Forrow Builders will be requested to honor their guarantee over possible replacement of landscaped area. Said inspection will occur on May 7, 1987.

open from roughly "Dawn to Dusk", and that Blois would discuss with Police Chief William Baker the possibility of the Police attending to that duty.

Bob Sanger reported that Sterling has never had lifeguards at their town beach, that they do have "at you own risk" signs, and that they have had no problems.

Gifts of Land

Attorney Alice Livdahl, representing the three heirs of Gertrude Chase who died in 1974, presented conservation gift information to the board. Paul Chase and Jonathan Dudley were present, as were David Lavallee, surveyor, and Joe Matthews, appraiser. Three unbuildable plots were offered to the town for conservation purposes:

1. A 3.1 acre parcel in the floodplain of Cold Spring Brook.
2. A 32,000 sq. ft. parcel on Colonial Drive.
3. A 3.4 acre peat bog off Shaw Lane and Putnam Hill Road.

Conservation has indicated its willingness to have these lands, but the land on Colonial Drive will be considered for a playground site. The heirs are willing to do title and survey work. It was noted that a small tax bill is still due. Other than considering the playground site, Conservation has no plans for using the property.

Livdahl noted that in order to donate land through the Wetlands Protection Act, the Selectmen must vote to accept the land. Selectman Mike Chizy moved and LaBonte seconded approval and it was voted unanimously. The land will be under the perpetual authority of the Conservation Commission.

Appointments

Alternate Don Allison was appointed to full membership on the Zoning Board of Appeals. Rosemary DiRenzo applied for and was appointed alternate.

There were four openings on the Board of Health. Jim Crosby, Chair has expressed a desire to resign and Jane Palermo is continuing. Applications were received from JoAnn Lambert, Dan Lessard, Mark Panaccione and Mark Campbell. All were appointed. Dan Lessard will be unable to serve until his Finance and Warrant Advisory Committee duties are completed. Jim Crosby will serve until then.

Arts Lottery Council members appointed were Leona Dona, Virginia Merrill, Linda Roach and Pat Nedoroscik.

Carl Hutchinson was appointed to the Solid Waste Committee.

Linda Roach, Joe Gravison and Connor were appointed to the Housing Partnership Committee, Jim Fitzpatrick to the Conservation Commission, and John Duff and Jim Goode to the By-Law Revision Committee.

Jim Gribouski and Bill Gribauskas were appointed to the Earth Removal Committee.

Vacancies still exist on the Solid Waste Committee, the Historical Society, the Board of Health, alternate to the ZBA, and the Cable TV Advisory Committee.

Board of Health Inspection

As required, the Board of Health made a routine inspection of Camp Marion and the beach and provided the town and the Recreation Commission with a list of work that needs to be completed for safety and code reasons. Some of the items on the list have already been corrected. The remainder, through a cooperative effort of the Recreation Commission, volunteers and other town support, will be corrected. Since the first part of the season is devoted to the children's swim program, it is felt that by the time the beach opens for public use at the end of the month, all necessary work will have been completed.

Strieby suggested that appropriate recognition efforts be made in appreciation for the work done to open the camp. The Sheriff's Department, many volunteers, the Highway Department and Harvey Bileau, among many others under the leadership of Ed Wrenn will be honored.

Friday Closing

At the close of the meeting, Blois announced that a reduction in the hours of Town Hall employees will result in the lengthening of work days so that the Town Hall can be closed on Fridays. He said this was the most efficient and economical method of maintaining service.

The meeting adjourned at 10:30 p.m.

Canoe Guide Available

UXBRIDGE - The Blackstone River Canoe Guide is making its debut this summer to help direct everyone from the canoe enthusiast to the beginner down this historic river. Created through a cooperative effort between the Blackstone River Watershed Association (BRWA) and the Blackstone River Valley National Heritage Corridor Commission (BRVNHCC), the 40 page guide covers the entire length of the Blackstone from Worcester to Pawtucket, identifying put-in sites, portages and historic landmarks.

The bi-state publication was completed with the help of many volunteers, several who were already quite experienced with traversing the Blackstone. As a result, 15 different segments of the river are detailed to offer a variety of canoeing experiences and levels of difficultly.

Canoe guides are available by calling the Blackstone River Watershed Association at (508) 234-8797.

Moore Reelected to Lead Mass DLC

UXBRIDGE - Rep. Richard T. Moore (D-Uxbridge) was re-elected to a second term as Chairman of the Massachusetts Democratic Leadership Council (DLC) at the organization's annual meeting in Boston recently.

The Massachusetts DLC is an organization of moderate Democratic elected officials and political activists which works to promote public dialogue on issues of state and national importance, formulate innovative policies to address these issue, and promote voter education and public policy activities.

In his Chairman's address, Moore challenged the membership "to shape a new message about politics for Main Street Americans and to chart a new course for our Commonwealth and our country. The challenge before us today and in the months ahead," he said, "is to reconnect citizens with the political process."

AUDITIONS

BOSTON - Tenors and bass baritones are needed for The Greater Bostonians "Music Makers for the Jimmy Fund," a musical group that will perform original arrangements of music from Broadway and Hollywood as well as American popular standards to benefit the Jimmy Fund of Dana-Farber Cancer Institute.
